David Carvalho has served in parish ministry and Catholic education within New York, New Jersey, and Massachusetts for the last 10 years. A Fall River native, David lives with his wife and two children in the spindle city. He is excited to share how God has worked in his life amidst traveling, marriage, and parenting toddlers so as to help others see how God calls them even through the messiness of family life. Earning degrees from Fordham University and Siena College, he now serves as the Diocesan Secretary for the New Evangelization.
